Lynette La Fontaine, otipemisiwak artist (they/ them) is a Métis visual artist with roots in northern Saskatchewan, as well as the historic Métis community of Red River settlement. They grew up on the traditional, unceded Dakelh territory of the Stella'ten and now currently reside in the traditional Lekwungun (Tsarlip and WSÁNEĆ Nations). Their work is inspired by connection to the land, heart, spirit, ancestors, as well as teachings from Elders and knowledge holders. With the intent to honour these connections, they utilize their preferred media of traditional and contemporary beadwork, whitefish scales, tufting, porcupine quills, fur, mixed media, acrylic painting and fabrics.
